A Strawberry Smoothie for Spot?

Strawberries are typically in season in late spring/early summer, and are a great, healthy treat for dogs. If you have a blender, you can try these two “smoothie”-inspired dog treat recipes.

Doggy Dessert Chef’s appealing Strawberry Banana Smoothie Biscuits are a great seasonal treat for special occasions. (Plus, bananas are another healthy, safe fruit for dogs.) Cooking time is 15-20 minutes, and you’ll need a blender. (Note: these treats contains milk, so they are not suitable for lactose intolerant dogs.)

On the lighter side, there’s this Frozen Strawberry Smoothie recipe from Irresistible Pets. Strawberries and bananas are the only ingredients needed – simply combine them in a blender until smooth, pour the liquid into ice cube trays (heart-shaped ones are optional!), freeze for a few hours, and voila! Pair these treats with a smoothie of your own, and you’ve got a relaxing treat for the both of you to enjoy!

LAST MONTHS carting/scootering event at this park was fantastic. We had about 17 people, 2 carts, 7 scooters, over 20 dogs. Everyone got to run that wanted to. We had extra collars, harnesses and the scooters to loan out. Even though it had rained, the trail was not mucky and easy to run on. They have a great picnic area and we were able to sit and relax with coffee and snacks and many tired dogs until about noon, when another crowd came.

Dog Hike at Don Edwards Park.

We had beautiful weather for a hike from Don Edwards into the Coyote Hills. Many were able to hike 4.5 mile hike and wore out the dogs and the kids. We had a few small hills but most of the park is level so it is easy going for dogs and humans. We ended at the picnic tables so everyone enjoyed snacks and lemonade. There were 6 adults, 4 kids and 11 dogs. When having such notice that was a good turnout. Looking forward to more hikes in the future.

Greetings! I am young Thorin, and full of puppy play and pounce! I am looking for a forever home that has all the things a young, happy, easy going puppy needs: love, time, love, toys, love, and lots of walks. I do well with the young and old, four pawed and two. Although I am still growing and learning I do know some small commands and walk well on leash. I would be happiest in an active family and would prefer not to be an only dog, though I could be a delightful one dog for the right, northern breed experienced forever home.

I love EVERYone and my foster mom says I'm "turn key" whatever that means. Hey, if its a thing to chase, I'm all about it! I am good with children, other dogs, crate trained and leash trained. I am working on getting fully house trained, I am just a baby after all. Please no cats or small animals in my future home.

That's me! My name is Whiskey! I am a 10 month old Siberian; a long legged guy who, like my namesake, may take a little to warm up. I am shy and hesitant at meeting new things and new people, but given love and a few hours, warm up to a playful, sometimes vocal, toy tossing guy. I am sweet and play very well with other dogs and walk great on leash. My foster home has small children and I enjoy being with them, but really my favorite thing is playing rope with my foster mom and foster dog brothers. Also, I LOVE going for walks and my foster mom is starting to teach me how to be in harness pulling a wagon.

I am looking for a forever home with northern breed experience. I am a talker when there is something to say- so my new family will love my woos, chuffing, muttering and singing. I was an only dog and could be again but would also love to be the other half of a dog family if my new family has other medium to large companion dogs. Please no cats or small animals.

Rescue/foster Committee- We don't have as many foster homes but there are still many Siberians that need rescuing. We are creating a committee to brainstorm ideas on how to rescue the Siberians in our area, find more foster homes, sponsor dogs for others to rescue and other ideas. We would like to come up with ideas on what we can do and then create guidelines and rules on how to handle this. Any one interested in being a part of the committee (more minds for ideas the better) contact Randee at BASHRR@com-ctl.com
